I prefer to walk short distances because it's good exercise and I enjoy being outdoors. When I need to go somewhere a bit farther, I like taking the bus because it's convenient and affordable. However, if I'm in a hurry, I find it more efficient to take a taxi or ride a bike. I don't like driving a car in heavy traffic because it can be stressful, but I do enjoy road trips with friends. When I have to travel long distances, I prefer taking the train or plane as it's faster and more comfortable. Overall, I love exploring new places and trying different modes of transportation depending on the situation.
