The sun is shining brightly as Sarah walks down the street. She is carrying a large bag filled with groceries. Suddenly, she hears a loud noise coming from a nearby alley. She is curious, so she walks closer to investigate. As she approaches the alley, she sees a group of people gathered around a man who is lying on the ground. He is moaning in pain. Sarah recognizes him as her neighbor, Mr. Johnson. She rushes over to him and asks, "What happened? Are you okay?" Mr. Johnson groans and replies, "I fell off the ladder while trying to fix my roof." Sarah quickly takes out her phone and calls for an ambulance. She stays with Mr. Johnson, holding his hand and reassuring him until the ambulance arrives. As they load Mr. Johnson into the ambulance, Sarah realizes that she has forgotten her groceries on the street. She runs back to retrieve them, feeling grateful that she was able to help her neighbor in need.
