Read the following dialogue and answer

Sarah: Hey, I have been thinking about getting a pet. Any suggestions?

Emily: Pets can be wonderful companions! What kind of pet are you considering?

Sarah: I'm not sure. I have always loved dogs, but I'm open to other options.

Emily: Well, dogs are great if you have the time and energy to give them attention and exercise. They're loyal and loving. However, cats can be more independent and require less maintenance. They're great for people with busy schedules. Alternatively, if you want something smaller, a hamster or a fish might be a good choice.

Sarah: That's helpful. I do have a busy schedule, so maybe a cat would be a better fit. Any specific recommendations on breeds?

Emily: If you're looking for a low-maintenance cat, I suggest considering a domestic shorthair or a Russian Blue. They're known to be easygoing and adaptable. But if you have any allergies, you might want to look into hypoallergenic breeds like the Siamese or the Sphynx.

Sarah: Good to know. I'll do some research on those breeds. Thanks for the advice!

Emily: You're welcome! Don't forget to consider adoption too. There are many wonderful cats and dogs in shelters waiting for a loving home.

Sarah: Absolutely. I'll definitely check out local shelters. Thanks again for your help!
